In Case of Margoty vs. Boston & Maine

The case of Charles Margoty vs. the The case of Charles Margoty vs. the Roston & Maine railroad company which was staired in superior court yesterday, came to a close today, when a verdict was rendered in favor of the defendant company. In this case the plaintiff brought suit against the railroad company to recover for alleged injuries received while handling milk caus at a grade crossing in Hudson. N. H., where he has been residing for N. H., where he has been residing for a number of years. The company claimed gross and wilful negligence on the part of the plaintiff, and it alleged that the injuries were caused there-

THE MCNAMARA CASE

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Nov. 1.-Indications in the McNamara murder trial today were that before nightfall the first Tall jury box of talesmen passed for cause by both sides would be obtained. Yesterday's progress brought the number of talesmen who had qualified to nine, and it was hoped to add three more at today's session.

But while one lap in the trial will have been run in filling the jury hox for the first time, the subsequent exercise of 30 percuptory challenges 20 by the defense and 10 by the state, will make it necessary to have many full panels before the final jury is agreed on to try the case.

A venire of 40 was summoned again today for jury duty, being the second of that number since the original venire of 125 was excused. Only three veniremen remained yesterday.

Judge Bordwell at 9 o'clock, an hour before the regular session of court Leard preliminary excuses for the new veniremen.

SHOEMAKERS BACK TO WORK

LYNN, Nov. 1.—There was a general return of locked-out shoe-culters to work in the shoe shops here today. The men went to work this forenoon on a 54-hour a week basis pending the final adjustment by an arbitration board of the entiers' demand for an eight-hour day. At the labor headquarters a statement was issued to the effect that no Knights of Labor shoe-culters had reported up to moon that a manufacturer had refused to allow him to return to work. In several instances men were informed that there was no work for them this morning but that there would be in a short time. Lack of supply of leather was given as the cause. would be in a short time. Lack of supply of leather was given as the cause of this. It was stated at the labor headquarters that the men had returned to work in 21 of the shops.

Tariff Talks With Textile Workers

THAT difference does it make to the man who works for an average daily wage, whether one man or another or another one man or another one man or another or elected to office in Massachusetts?

THAT difference does it make to him party or another gets control of public affairs? THAT difference does it make to him whether one THY should be interest himself in such questions as the tariff, appointments to public office, or any issues involved in an election? involved in an election?

No. 1. A STATEMENT

It isn't as easy as it may look to answer these questions simply and clearly, for it takes deep study to understand them thoroughly, but perhaps a few points worked out of a great mass of figures and data may help a little to clear the murky political sky, for after all the main underlying principles are simple and easy to understand.

Massachusetts Built on Protective Tariff

Massachusetts has been built up to its present commanding position as a manu-facturing state under a protective tariff; Republicans and Democrats agree upon this. But its growth has not been at the expense of other sections of the country: the early tariff acts of 1845 and 1857 are the only measures that may be recalled (until the efforts made in the last Congress) where any particular section of the country was made a beneficiary or a scapegoat as against the other parts of the nation; and while there were other reasons for the outbreak of the Civil War, many historians agree that the disturbed and agitated public feeling resulting war, many misionans agree that the disturbed and agitated public feeling resulting from those tariff measures contributed largely to bring about the struggle that finally came from '61 to '65. WITH TWO EXCEPTIONS, THE COUNTRY HAS CONTINUED DURING THE LAST FIFTY YEARS UNDER PROTECTIVE TARIFF LAWS PASSED BY THE REPUBLICAN PARTY.

The Mills Bill of 1888 and the Garman-Wilson law of 1894 are the two exceptions where the Democratic party passed tariff legislation affecting American industries. The phases of those bills which especially interest the lexille workers in Massachusetts relate almost entirely to the wool and cotton schedules. These two schedules are so closely allied that what is true of one is practically true of the other.

Three striking periods of depression have marked the woolen business in the United States: one followed the passage of the Mills Bill in 1888; the second followed the passage of the Wilson law in 1894; the third came on during the last session of Congress when it because evident that the Democratic tariff bill would be passed, and it seems destined to continue, even though the bill was vetoed by President Taft, until a decisive expression comes from the voters of the country showing that they believe the Tresident's veto to have been a wise and courageous one, and that they condemn liasty and unscientific tariff tinkering.

The coming election in Massachusetts is the first opportunity the voters of this state have had to show how strongly they do condemn such tariff tinkering, how thoroughly they approve of President Taft's veto of it, and their further approval of the Republican policy of revising tariff schedules only after full and careful consideration by an expert tariff board. As against these three periods of depression, there have been practically thirty years of sleady, upward progress in the textile industries of the United States.

New England has enjoyed the largest growth, and Massachusetts is the center of New England in this respect. Great mills have been constructed. Enormous strides have been made in the industry, and today the promise would be brighter than ever before, were it not for the particular cloud which the proposed Democratic tariff legislation creates. Why is this?

Democratic Laws of 1888 and '94 Crushed Business. Democratic Bill of 1911 Cuts the 1888 and 1894 Protection Nearly in Half. Can Massachusetts Stand This Cut?

The Mills Bill of 1888 gave a protection to the manufacturer and his operatives of between forty and fifty per cent. This sounds like a large measure of protection, but the business had grown up under a protection of nearly twenty per cent greater than that, a protection which had been sufficient to more than quadruple the manufactured product of the woolen mills of New England. The business had grown up because this protection afforded a certain margin of profit, but the Mills Bill cut the margin of profit to such an extent that the result was depression, hard times, an entire stoppage of growth and development; and the conditions were relieved only when Republican control readjusted the tariff and gave a new start for the manufacturer and his help. The improvement was only temporary, however, for in 1894 the Wilson law was passed, under another temporary control of the government by the Democratic party, reducing the tariff as it had been reduced before, and again depressing the industry. SO MUCH FOR HISTORY. Scrious as was the injury done by the passage of these two bills, it was slight compared to the possible injury in store for this great industry if the Democratic tariff bill, passed by the last Congress, but veloed by President Taft, should become law. The Mills Bill, while it reduced the percentage of protection did at least compensate the manufacturer somewhat by the treatment it gave to other items which, besides labor, go to make up the cost of the manufactured product. This was also true of the Wilson Bill. Under both these bills, for example, raw wool was free of duty.

The Democratic bill, however, gave no such relief. The duties on machinery and much other necessary equipment, as well as on most of the necessary supplies, accre left unchanged. Chemicals and dye-stuffs, belting, coal, and soap, indeed practically all of the important auxiliaries in the production of textiles were kept at the same rates as before, thus leaving their cost to the Massachusetts manufactured while the protection given his manufactured product was at the same rates as before, thus leaving their cost to the Massachusetts manufacturer unchanged, while the protection given his manufactured product was suffering the enormous reduction of almost twenty percent. In other words, the manufacturer and his operatives have their protection cut nearly one-half by the proposed Democratic bill, but they are given no relief whatever in the purchase of their supplies and materials.

Nor is this all. In the legislative controversy over the bill, Senator La Follette took a large hand. He it was who claimed the credit of the final adjustment which if he is to be believed, still left the American wool grower, as he said, "with pretty nearly the equivalent of the total duty he actually has

Wool of West Protected While Product of East is Cut

If this means anything, it means that the woolen manufacturer in Massachusetts, should the Democratic policy of tariff reform be carried out, must pay for his raw wool as much as ever, must pay for his auxiliary supplies as much as ever, but must suffer a net cut of nearly twenty percent on his manufactured product, to be taken entirely out of his profits and the wages of his employees.

AN the textile manufacturer stand the necessary 🕥 , cut in his dividends that this change would make?

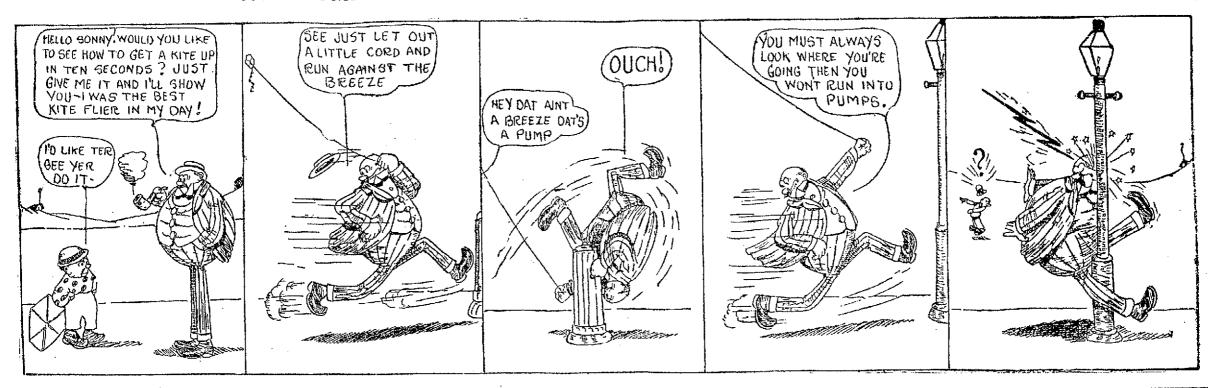

AN the textile worker stand the reduction in wages that this reduction in tariff would cause?

Sworn to by John II. Harrington, proprietor, Martin H. Reidy, business manager, and Alfred Pilotte, pressman, of The Sun, before J. JOSEPH HENNESSY, Notary Public. me, January 2, 1911.

The Sun has many more letters from the officials of cities in which the commission charter is in force and we believe they will convince every voter in Lowell that the charter will be a good thing for the city ut large and that it has no advantages for any special class. Its aim is good government, by the people and for the people.

The republican party throughout the country is badly divided and the leaders are making a desperate effort to close up the ranks and present a united front for the presidential contest next year. We do not think it is possible to reconcile the insurgents and the standpatters who differ so widely in their views on public questions.

PROOFS OF NEW CHARTER SUCCESS

On another page today we present convincing proofs of the success of the commission charter in Haverhill, Lynn and Des Moines. As a great deal of unwarrantable charges of a different kind have been made, we respectfully ask our readers to study these articles carefully and draw their own conclusions. In regard to Haverhill, the testimony is just as strong and conclusive as that from any other city. Tomorrow we shall present proofs from Memphis, Tenn., a city of over 131,000 population and we shall also give a statement showing that union labor is benefited, not injured by the new charter. We regret to say that still a large portion of our people are imposed upon by bogeys and faise statements made by men who for one reason or another are opposed to the charter, but one fact is plain to all, to wit, that wherever the new charter is tried it has been a success.

THE NEW CARDINAL

While the whole archdiocese rejoices at the elevation of His Grace, Archbishop O'Connell, to the cardinalate, no city of course rejoices so heartily as does Lowell, the home of his childhood and his youth. Lowell buils the elevation of her gifted son with joy, for in his advancement she too is honored. It can be said of Archbishop O'Connell that by eminent talent, exalted character and profound tearning he has won high bonors and we predict that in discharging the duties of cardinal he will show still dignitary revered by all classes throughout this country for his firm stand against the abuses of the day; for his conservatism and his wise leadership in every important crisis; and yet Archhishop O'Connell, although a younger man, has shown much of the same faculty of pointing to the root of au evil and setting forth in forcible language the only reinedy. Lowell has followed the young O'Connell from his hoyhood up and joins the chorus of shore through the window, she discorned that wish him Godspeed in every undertaking and every duty.

Rising in her bed, she exclaimed: other cities that wish him Godspeed in every undertaking and every duty attending his high office. He has been a great archbishop and it is safe to predict that he will eventually attain prominence in the sacred college.

The fact that the United States will have four cardinals will give a new impetus to the church in America and it will solve in a most satisfactory manner a problem in which nobody wished to utter a word between two and the purple—the other being Archbishop Farley of New York, a man of very remarkable character, training and ability. Cardinals Gibbons, O'Connell, Farley and Falconio will indeed add greatly to the influence and prestige of the church, not only in this country but throughout the world.

against the new charter will not forget the democratic ticket and Gov. Foss, against the new charter will not forget the democratic constant who is in a hot battle with the republican forces, with fair prospects of success at the polls next Tuesday. But he needs every vote he can get for money and corporate power are all arrayed against him. We have already referred to the importance of this election in Massachusetts. The state of Maine has gone democratic, and there is no danger of her returning to the republican column in the near future. The republicans, therefore, are making a most strenuous effort to turn the tide in this state. This, of course, is a republican state, and the two United States senators are using their efforts to bring the republicans who supported Foss in the last election back into line. They are assailing Mr. Foss on national issues, the tariff and others, for the reason that they have no charges of any importance to make against him on state matters. It is an old custom in this commonwealth to re-elect a governor who has made good in his first year. Governor Foss has accomplished a great deal for the state in the line of constructive legislation, and he has more to push through during the coming year, so that his defeat would mean a reversal of the progressive policy he has inaugurated. It is, therefore, the duty of patriotic citizens of all classes to avert such an outcome of the present contest.

Senator Lodge and Candidate Prothingham have all of a sudden been inspired with a great love for the working man and they are predicting calamity all over the state unless he votes precisely as they dictate. In these protestations they are not sincere, for both men have never lost an opportunity of opposing the working man.

Locally the democratic candidates should be loyally supported. Henry J. Draper should be elected senator because if sent to the legislature his vote will be east for democratic measures. The candidates for representatives in democratic wards are safe, but wherever there is a contest the democratic candidate should receive loyal support. We expect to see William C. Purcell, candidate for register of deeds, elected by a good majority on account of the splendid work he has done since he entered the office. It would in our judgment be a grave mistake not to allow him to complete the improvements he has started to make the local registry one of the best protected in the state against fire. It is not generally known that the records at the registry on Gorham street have been exposed to danger from are, and to Mr. Purcell is due the credit of adopting a scheme that will render them absolutely secure even against a fire that would destroy the

A NEW REMEDY FOR SKIN TROUBLES

Many skin troubles are not caused by the blood as most people think. External treatment is therefore the most direct and rational way to effect a cure. A chemist who was convinced of this fact found that an extract of the plant Juniperus Oxycedrus was the plant Juniperus Oxycedrus was most soothing and healing to an irritated, inflamed or diseased skin. By a special method of treatment this vegatable extract is now combined with other antiseptic, healing ingredients, and is known as Cadum. This new compound has cured thousands of cases of eczema and other distressing skin diseases after other remedies halfalled. It stops the terrible Itching of eczema at once, and begins healing with the first application. Cadum can be used with confidence in all skin failed. It stops the territole itching of eczema at once, and begins healing with the first application. Cadum can be used with confidence in all skin affections of infants and adults. It has proved a blessing to many who have suffered for years from tormenting and disfiguring skin diseases. Cadum is different from anything else, lit acts quickly upon pimples, sorces, ulcors, cruptions, rashes, rough skin, blotches, chafings, scalb sores, itching piles, etc. All druggists, 10c and 25c.

Lynn, Mass., Oct. 21, 1914.

Dear Sir:—In answer to your query about commission government in Lynn, It is giving satisfaction. The tax rate has been reduced 60 cents a thousand, and valuations have not been unduly increased. Next year more permanent street and sidewalk improvements will be made than ever before in the history of the city, for this year the commission was not in prime working condition until late in the spring, on account of newness. Now, next year's plans are being laid, and the program is immense. The responsibility for omission or commission is easily placed, as there are five commissioners, in place of 36 members of the old style city council. It is only fair to add that I am a late convert to the strictly commission form. and have been ready to criticize if opportunity offered.

Editor Lowell Sun, Lowell, Mass.:

Dear Sir:-Our new charter works profitably, and satisfactorily in every department of government. It saves time and money, eliminates politics and favoritism, and its beneficent results are equitably distributed among the people without the slightest regard to ward lines or individual influence. It is giving satisfaction not only at city hall, but to all the people. The results of its operations are so much better than those of the former charter that it is doubtful whether five per cent, of the voters could be induced to return to the old order of things.

Very respectfully yours

From Des Moines and Cannot Be Denied

In addition to the communications printed above from the Lynn Item and Haverhill Gazette, we give herewith a statement of the successful working of the new form of charter in Des Moines. This communication gives a plain statement of the conditions and improvements under the new charter. It is in line with the statements from every other city in which this charter is in operation, as all agree that the commission government is a great success. The statement from Judge Winn of Haverhill in addition to that of Editor Houston of the Haverhill Gazette, should be conclusive in regard to that city. We ask fair minded voters to draw their own conclusions as between these statements and the unwarranted charges in which an effort is made to conceal the general results. Tomorrow we shall present still stronger proofs from the city of Memphis, Tenn., which has a population of over 131,000, and others, all proving that this charter is liest for all classes, and especially favored by the working people.

Finally, the people awoke to, the necessity of doing something, and they bring the demonstrate and republicans alike, in asking the legislature for a law giving them a new charter. The legislature retused at first, but at the following session it granted the request

CITY OF HAVERHILL

"There is nothing particularly mysterious or complicated about municipal affairs. City business is not a hard business to run If you go at it in the the business to run n seed on right way.

The same or similar methods as Judge John J. Winn of Haverhill said to a reporter for The Sun who visited him at his office in Haverhill yesterday afternoon.

Judge Winn helicoves that the men who look after city affairs should be paid for it. "If you were doing husiness to the extent of $3,000,000 a year or thereabout and fifteen or sixteen men should come along and heg the opportunity to care for your business without pay, you would feel as if you were in ticklish company, wouldn't you? You'd feel like sewing your pockets and putting the dangar signal on the safe. But if a fellow should come along looking for the job and asking a salary commensurate with the work and the responsibility, you would look him over and talk business with him. That's how I scan the situation in municipal affairs. If a thing is worth doing, it's worth doing well and worth paying for."

months, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Sevigny of 3 Harrison court, off West Eleventh street, is an unfortunate boy. The little chap fractured his left arm twice within a few days, and he is now confined to St. John's hospital. Not long ago the little fellow was playing with an older brother and while so doing fell and fractured his left arm. He was removed to St. John's hospital and there the fracture was reduced. A few days later the little fellow was again playing with his brother when he fell into a tub with his brother over him. and again the little arm was fractured, this time near the shoulder.

The injured boy was once more removed to the hospital, where he will remain until he has fully recovered.

Having some knowledge of the required duties of the city physician under the present system, I am satisfied that the people in sickness at the ory attention possible should be given to the mother in that critical condition.

The sick and feeble aged in the hospital should receive the constant attention of a doctor, and the men and women confined there, suffering with cancer and other diseases, should receive the necessary service of the physician. In 1982, Dr. William M, Jones served as city physician, and held the position for several years. While in office ha recommended to the city council the abolition of the office, stating that: 'If the medical work in the hospital was to be done as it should be, it would require the entire time of one man.'

The city council failed to take action on the recommendation, and it has since continued to remain a purely political office. I am satisfied that under the present system, the people at the Chelmsford street hospital are neglected, and the sentiment of the physicians of this city whom I have interviewed on this matter, together with a large number of poople who have at some time been patients in that hospital, proves to me the imperative necessity of an immediate change in the system, thereby removing this important office, which is almost sacred, from the trading, dickering influence of politics.

The laterest in behalf of the unfortunate, sick people at the hospital should be paramount, and of far greater importance to every one than the continuance of the inadequate system now in vogue.

under the present system, I am satisfied that the people in sickness at the Chelmsford street hospital cannot receive the medical attention that should be accorded them.

As a member of the board of charities, I have requested that action be taken, recommending to the city council the abolition of the office of city physician, and that the election and control of a physician for the Chelmsford street hospital be transferred to the board of charities, The board of charities, The board of charities, The board of charities, and they have personally expressed themselves favorable to the physician being placed in the board's control.

I am convinced that if humane and efficient medical service is to be rendered to the sick, that a house doctor should be placed in that hospital. The eight hundred men and women who go there each year should, for their own welfare, and as a protection to others, receive an examination by a doctor, and those who may be diseased should receive proper care and attention.

There should be a doctor on duty at all times to render service when children are born in the hospital, and every attention possible should be given to the mother in that critical condition,

The sick and feeble aged in the hospital should receive the constant attention of a doctor, and the men and women confined there, suffering with cancer and other, and there diseases should receive and other, and there were suffering with cancer and other, and there were should be given to the mother in that critical condition.

Mrs. Maud Howe Elllott addressed the Lowell branch, Women's alliance Mrs. Mand Howe Elllott addressed the Lowell branch, Women's alliance in the First Unitarian vestry, yestorday afternoon. She told of incidents in the life of her mother, Mrs. Julia Ward Howe, one of the most remarkable women that the world has every known, a woman who retained her youthfulness in splendld measure until the time of her death and she was then 91 years of age. Mrs. Elliott read from the proof sheets of her forthcoming book, "The Eleventh Hour," including recollections of the closing years of her mather's life "Her tremendous vitality," said Mrs. Elliott, had much to do with her long service. The remarkable thing is not that she worked until the last; and what she produced in her last year was as good as any of her earlier writings."

On her 91st birthday, a reporter asked Mrs. Howe for a motto for the women of America. Her answer was: "Up 40 Date."

"She never thought of herself as old."

NEW YORK, Nev. L.—Laura Biggar, the former actress, who for nine years has played a leading part in lawsuits, has entered suits in the New Jersey court of chancery to have set aside as void her release of her claim against the estate of Henry Bennett, the Pittsburgh millionaire, who made a will giving her 68 per cent, of his estate and the residue to Peter J. McNuity, who was manager of the Bijou theatre, Pittsburgh owned by Beiniet.

There was a contest over the will intended to exclude Miss Biggar, who said she was the wife of Bennett and mother of his child. Her name became linked with that of Dr. C. C. Hondricks, who had then made a specialty of trading alcoholic victims. This scandal broke while the will case was pending, and she accepted $130,000 and gave up her alleged rights as a widow. She has, through her counsel, William J. Leonard, filed a bill to sustain her contention that she is entitled to 60 per cent of the estate and signed away her claim under duress. The estate was held in trust by McNuity, John F. Hawkins and James W. Platt of Pittsburgh. The two first named are now dead. The case was before City yesterday, and he issued an order requiring the surviving trustee to make an accounting within three requiring the surviving trustee to make an accounting within three weeks. The action is brought in New Jersey because Bennett had his sum-mer home at West End, Long Branch.

lived to be 91 years of age, but that she worked antil the last; and what she produced in her last year was as good as any of her earlier writings.

On her 91st birthday, a reporter asked Mrs. Howe for a motto for the women of America. Her answer was: "Up to Date."

"She never thought of herself as old, and therefore she never was old, in the essentials: 'Idfe is like a cup of tea; the sugar is all at the bottom, she circle out to me.' said ber daughter.

Referring to Mrs. Howe's poem written for the Lincohn centonary, Mrs. Elliot said that Prof. Barrett Wendell considers some of the stanzas' as good as the Battle Hynn.

Speaking of Mrs. Howe's qualities as a fighter for good causes, Mrs. Elliott said that he had met with su mach opposition through fighting for any popular causes—aboilion, woman suffrage and religious liberty—that she knew the real joy lies in battle, not in wictory.

The last public hearing that she attended at the stale bouse was on May 10, 1910, and it was on the question of milk laws. "There, where she had stood for years and asked for the full right of citizenship.—the right to vote,—she made her last appeal. "You may be scated, Mrs. Howe, said the chairman. I prefer to stand, she replied. Her presence lifted the whole occasion ont of the commonplace. We have heard a great deal about the furners' and the dealers' side of the case, she said: "we want justice to all—let us stund on that. There is one deeply interested party, however, of whom we have heard nothing. He cannot speak for him—the Infant." The intraession:

After Mrs. Eliiott had finished there was a social hour, with light refreshments.

JOHN M. FARRELL, Road Estate and Personal Property Auctioneer Office 162 Market Street, Lowell, Mass

Commissioners' Sale of Real Estate Saturday, November 4th, 1911, at 3 P. M.

By virtue of a warrant from the probate court, I shall soil at public auction, without limit, the brick block known as the Cahiil property, formerly occupied by Armour & Co., situated on the northerly side of Market stret, near the corner of Palmer street, Lowell, Mass. The property consists of a two-story brick building that extends back about 80 feet to a 16-foot passageway, with railroad track privileges and a little less than 2000 square feet of land.

The first floor has a large refrigerator built in, that was formerly used by Armour & Co. for storage of meats, with a large salesroom in front, but now used by P. Dempsey & Co. for storage. The second floor is rented.

This property is situated right in the center of the city, where any person of firm wishing to engage in any wholesale business would find this a grand chance to locate, where they can have the raliroad track at their door; and, being located in the center of the wholesale district, this ought to appeal to any person looking for a safe investment, where a good return is sure to be had. to he had.

Terms of sale: $500 to be paid to the auctioneer as soon as the property is sold. Other terms at sale.

Per order

JOHN P. FARLEY, SAMUEL SCOTT, WALTER CONROY, Commissioners.

Saturday, November 4th, at 4 O'Clock P. M.

I shall sell at public auction a very desirable suburban home situated on the Old Ferry road that runs from Varnum avenue to the boulevard, five minutes walk from the end of the Varnum avenue electric car line.

This property consists of a 2½-story house of nine rooms, with a plazza front and side, and good cellar under the entire house. The house is in the best of repair, having just been papered throughout and painted. It has city water; there is a good hen house with yards, all wired to keep 150 hens, and a barn.

We will also sell part of the household furniture, consisting of good, heavy, brass-trimmed iron beds, springs and mattresses, extra chairs, rock-orn, carpets, etc.

Don't fall to attend this sale if you want a home that will please any person that wants to live just out of the city.

Make all inquiries of the auctioneer.

THE STATE OFFICERS TO BE A CARDINAL

Lawyer Rogers then gave some figures relative to the number of passengers carried on the cars from Tewksbury which leave Merrimack square at 5.15, 5.55 and 6.15 p. m. for Tewksbury. He said the semi-convertible ears on that line have a capacity of 48 passengers; that on Oct. 2 one of the ears which left the square in the evening had 61 passengers and ten stops were made between Merrimack square and Oakland square, corner of Roylston and Rogers streets. He then read the following relative to the number of passengers carried at the times in question, the number standing and stops made between Merrimack square and Oakland square: Oct. 5, car ten minutes late, 65 passengers carried at Oct. 5, car ten minutes late, 65 passengers carried.

Charges Made Against a Local Hotel Keeper

The hearing of charges against Hugh Ferguson, Reensee of the St.
James helel, scheduled to take place before the board of police last night, was postponed until Nov. 14 at the request of Thomas J. Earlight, counsel for the defense. The complaint against
Mr. Ferguson, sworm out by Supt.
Welch, alleges that the licensee or one of his clerks sold liquor on Sunday, Oct 22, to a person who was not a boint fide guest of the hotel.

The postponed hearing of the remonstrants against James Petros who applied for a billiards and pool licenses at 21 Adams street, did not late place either owing to the non-appearance of the people who objected to the granting of the license.

Inasmuch as Petros was found guiltty of illegally keeping liquor four years ago and convicted in the lower couri and about two months ago was found guilty of maintaining a gaming milsance, Commissioner Boulger refused to vote in favor of the granting of the license, but Chairman Mulaney and Commissioner Hausen decided to give the man another chance and voted in the affirmative.

Lawyer George F. Toye appeared for Malud Hassam, who was given leave to withdraw a week ago on the

Tariff Talks With Textile Workers

HAT difference does it make to the man who works for an average daily wage, whether one man or another is elected to office in Massachusette? elected to office in Massachusetts?

HAT difference does it make to him whether one party or another gets control of public affairs?

If Y should he interest himself in such questions as the tariff, appointments to public office, or any issues involved in an election?

No. 1. A STATEMENT

It isn't as easy as it may look to answer these questions simply and clearly, fit isn't as easy as it may look to answer mese questions simply and clearly, for it takes deep study to understand them thoroughly, but perhaps a few points worked out of a great mass of figures and data may help a little to clear the anarry political sky, for after all the main underlying principles are simple and

Massachusetts Built on Protective Tariff

Massachusetts has been built up to its present commanding position as a manufacturing state under a protective tariff; Republicans and Democrats agree upon this. But its growth has not been at the expense of other sections of the country; the early tariff acts of 1845 and 1857 are the only measures that may be recalled the only measures that may be recalled (until the efforts made in the last Congress) where any particular section, of the country was made a beneficiary or a scapegoat as against the other parts of the nation; and while there were other reasons for the outbreak of the Civil War, many historians agree that the disturbed and agitated public feeling resulting from those tariff measures contributed largely to bring about the struggle that finally came from '61 to '65. WITH TWO EXCEPTIONS, THE COUNTRY HAS CONTINUED DURING THE LAST FIFTY YEARS UNDER PROTECTIVE TARIFF LAWS PASSED BY THE REPUBLICAN PARTY.

The Mills Bill of 1888 and the Gorman-Wilson law of 1894 are the two exceptions where the Democratic party passed tariff legislation affecting American industries. The phases of those bills which especially interest the textile workers industries. The phases of those bills which especially interest the textile workers in Massachusetts relate almost entirely to the wool and cotton schedules. These two schedules are so closely allied that what is true of one is practically true of the other,

Three striking periods of depression have marked the woolen business in the United States; one followed the passage of the Mills Bill in 1888; the second followed the passage of the Wilson law

Three Sectional Tariff Efforts

in 1894; the third came on during the last session of Congress when it became evident that the Democratic tariff bill would be passed, and it seems destined to continue, even though the bill was vetoed by President Taft, until a decisive expression comes from the voters of the country showing that they believe the President's veto to have been a wise and courageous one, and that they condemn hasty and unscentific tariff tinkering.

The coming election in Massachusetts is the first opportunity the voters

The coming election in Massachusetts is the first opportunity the voters of this state have had to show how strongly they do condemn such tariff tinkering, how thoroughly they approve of President Taft's veto of it, and their further approval of the Republican policy of revising tariff schedules only after full and careful consideration by an expert tariff board.

As against these three periods of depression, there have been practically thirty years of steady, upward progress in the textile industries of the United States. New England has enjoyed the largest growth, and Massachusetts is the center of New England in this respect. Great mills have been constructed. Enormous strides have been made in the industry, and today the promise would be brighter than ever before, were it not for the particular cloud which the proposed Democratic tariff legislation creates. Why is this?

Democratic *Laws of 1888 and '94 Crushed Business. Democratic Bill of 1911 Cuts the 1888 and 1894 Protection Nearly in Half. Can Massachusetts Stand This Cut?

The Mills Bill of 1888 gave a protection to the manufacturer and his operatives of between forty and fifty per cent. This sounds like a larger measure of protection, but the business had grown up under a protection of nearly twenty per cent greater than that, a protection which had been sufficient to more than quadruple the manufactured product of the woolen mills of New England. The business had grown up hecause this protection afforded a certain margin of profit, but the Mills Bill cut the margin of profit to such an extent the margin of profit to such an extent that the result was depression, bard times, an entire stoppage of growth and development; and the conditions were relieved only when Republican control readjusted the tariff and gave a new start for the manufacturer and his help-The improvement was only temporary, however, for in 1894 the Wilson law was of the government by the Democratic party, reducing the turiff as it had been reduced before, and again depressing the industry. SO MUCH FOR HISTORY.

Serious as was the injury done by the passage of these two bills, it was slight Serious as was the injury done by the passage of these two bills, it was slight compared to the possible injury in store for this great industry if the Democratic tariff bill, passed by the last Congress, but vetoed by President Taft, should become law. The Mills Bill, while it reduced the percentage of protection did at least compensate the manufacturer somewhat by the treatment it gave to other items which, besides labor, go to make up the cost of the manufactured product. This was also true of the Wilson Bill. Under both these bills, for example, raw wool

The Democratic bill, however, gave no such relief. The duties on machinery and much other necessary equipment, as well as on most of the necessary supplies, seere left unchanged. Chemicals and dye-stuffs, belting, coal, and soap, indeed practically all of the important auxiliaries in the production of textiles were kept at the same rates as before, thus leaving their cost to the Massachusetts manufacturer unchanged, while the protection given his manufactured product was suffering the enormous reduction of almost twenty percent. In other words, the manufacturer and his operatives have their protection cut nearly one-half by the proposed Democratic bill, but they are given no relief whatever in the purchase of their supplies and materials.

Nor is this all. In the legislative controversy over the bill, Senator La Follette took a large hand. He it was who claimed the credit of the final adjustment which if he is to be believed, still left the American wool grower, as he said, "with pretty nearly the equivalent of the total duty he actually has today.

Wool of West Protected While Product of East is Cut

If this means anything, it means that the woolen manufacturer in Massachusetts, should the Democratic policy of tariff reform be carried out, must pay for his raw wool as much as ever, must pay for his auxiliary supplies as much as ever, but must suffer a net cut of nearly twenty percent on his manufactured product, to be taken entirely out of his profits and the wages of his employees.

AN the textile manufacturer stand the necessary , cut in his dividends that this change would make?

NAN the textile worker stand the reduction in wages that this reduction in tariff would cause?

Democrats, lest you forget!

At the coming state election there are many candidates to be elected to state offices along with the determination of the charter question; therefore don't let your enthusiasm over the charter let you forget your other duty while in the polling booth.

Of all years this is the year when the democrats of Massachusetts should come on it is a man and vote for their candidate for governor. Governor Poss has made good and as a matter of right should have another term. But there is a nother reason and it is the influence that the election in this state will have another term. But there is a nother reason and it is the influence that the election in this state will have another term. ALLEGED WIFE MURDERER WILL

NEWARK, N. J., Nov. 1.—The prosecution announced today that Allison MacFarland would be arraigned next Monday to plead to a charge of murdering his wife. The prosecutor said he would move to have the trial set for the term of court beginning Dec. 4. MacFarland's attorney said today that he expected to move to quash the indictment on the ground, that it was incorrectly drawn.

He contends that the date of Mrs. MacFarland's death was Oct. 17 and not Oct. 18, as given in the indictment.

NEW ORLEANS

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 1.—Two patrolmen were mortally wounded and several persons hurt when an unidentified negro ran wild on Aigiers ferry-boat this forenoon. As the ferry warped up alongside the Aigiers lunding the negro appeared on deck and deckared he was going to "get" a witte man, whereupon he began ficing.

Two patrolmen, Georgo Russell and Joseph Lacosia, interfered and were shot down. Immediately a crowd closed in on the negro. The chambers of his revolver were shot empty and not having a chance to reload, the mad black used the guits as clubs, wounding soveral of the crowd that closed about him.

In the midst of the fight more police-men arrived. They killed the negro.

PATERSON, N. J. Nov. 1.—Three explosions at the Dupont Powder Works at Haskells early today caused a loss of about $60,000 and endangered the lives of about 30 men at the plant. One man was seriously injured and several others were hurled into the Passaic river and had to swim for their lives. A fire which followed the explosion destroyed three of the buildings containing valuable machinery and finished product.

SHOEMAKERS BACK TO WORK

LYXX, Nov. 1.-There was a general return of locked-out shoeutters to work in the shoe shops here today. The men went to work this forenoon on a 54-hour a week basis pending the final adjustment by an arbitration board of the cutters' demand for an eight-hour day. At the labor headquarters a statement was issued to the effect that no Knights of Labor shoe-cutors had reported up to noon that a manufacturer had refused to allow them to return to work. In several instances men were informed that there was no work for them this morning but that there would be in a short time. Lack of supply of leather was given as the cause of this. It was stated at the labor headquarters that the men had returned to work in 21 of the shops.

THREE DOLLARS PER YEAR. TWENTY-FIVE CENTS PER MONTH

The sworn daily average circulation of The Lowell Sun for the year 1910 was 15,976

Sworn to by John H. Harrington, proprietor, Martin H. Reidy, business manager, and Alfred Pilotte, pressman, of The Sun, before J. JOSEPH HENNESSY, Notary Public. me, January 2, 1911.

The Sun has many more letters from the officials of cities in which the commission charter is in force and we believe they will convince every voter in Lowell that the charter will be a good thing for the city at large and that it has no advantages for any special class. Its aim is good government, by the people and for the people.

The republican party throughout the country is badly divided and the leaders are making a desperate effort to close up the ranks and present a united front for the presidential contest next year. We do not think it is possible to reconcile the insurgents and the standpatters who differ so widely in their views on public questions.

PROOFS OF NEW CHARTER SUCCESS

On another page today we present convincing proofs of the success of the commission charter in Haverhill, Lynn and Des Moines. As a great deal of unwarrantable charges of a different kind have been made, we respectfully ask our readers to study these articles carefully and draw their own conclusions. In regard to Haverbill, the testimony is just as strong and conclusive as that from any other city. Tomorrow we shall present proofs from Memphis, Tenn., a city of over 131,000 population and we shall also give a statement showing that union labor is benefited, not injured by States. the new charter. We regret to say that still a large portion of our people are imposed upon by bogeys and false statements made by men who for one reason or another are opposed to the charter, but one fact is plain to all, to wit, that wherever the new charter is tried it has been a success.

THE NEW CARDINAL

While the whole archdiocese rejoices at the elevation of His Grace. Archbishop O'Connell, to the cardinalate, no city of course rejoices so heartily as does Lowell, the home of his childhood and his youth. Lowell hails the elevation of her gifted son with joy, for in his advancement she! too is honored. It can be said of Archbishop O'Connell that by eminent too is befored. It can be said of Archbishop O'Connell that by eminent the third in discharging the duties of cardinal he will show still except a billy than in the past. In Cardinal Gibbons the church has a talent, exalted character and profound learning be has won high honors and dignitary revered by all classes throughout this country for his firm stand against the abuses of the day; for his conservatism and his wise leadership in every important crisis; and yet Archhishop O'Connell, although a younger mun, has shown much of the same faculty of pointing to the root of an evil and setting forth in forcible language the only remedy. Lowell has followed the young O'Connell from his hoyhood up and joins the chorns of greater ability than in the past. In Cardinal Gibbons the church has a other cities that wish him Godspeed in every undertaking and every duty attending his high office. He has been a great archbishop and it is safe to predict that he will eventually attain prominence in the sacred college.

The fact that the United States will have four cardinals will give a new impetus to the church in America and it will solve in a most satisfactory manner a problem in which nobody wished to after a word between two great churchmen, both of whom were eminently worthy of being raised to the purple—the other being Archbishop Farley of New York, a man of very remarkable character, training and ability. Cardinals Gibbons, O'Connell, Farley and Falconio will indeed add greatly to the influence and prestige of frees the stagmant blood and dries up the brites. the church, not only in this country but throughout the world.

THE CAMPAIGN

It is to be hoped that the democrats of Lowell, while fighting for or against the new charter will not forget the democratic ticket and Gov. Foss, success at the polls next Tuesday. But he needs every vote he can get for money and corporate power are all arrayed against him. We have already money and corporate power are all arrayed against him. We have already referred to the importance of this election in Massachusetts. The state of Maine has gone democratic, and there is no danger of her returning to the republican column in the near future. The republicans, therefore, are making a most strengous effort to turn the tide in this state. This, of course, is a republican state, and the two United States senators are using their efforts to bring the republicans who supported Foss in the last election back into line. They are assailing Mr. Foss on national issues, the tariff and others, for the reason that they have no charges of any importance to make against him on state matters. It is an old custom in this commonwealth to re-elect a governor who has made good in his first year. Governor Foss has accomplished a great deal for the state in the line of constructive legislation, and he has more to push through during the coming year, so that his defeat would mean a reversal of the progressive policy he has inauguruled. It is, therefore, the duty of patriotic citizens of all classes to avert such an outcome of the present contest.

Senator Lodge and Candidate Frothingham have all of a sudden been inspired with a great love for the working man and they are predicting calamity all over the state unless he votes precisely as they dietate. In these protestations they are not sincere, for both men have never lost an opportunity of opposing the working man.

Locally the democratic candidates should be loyally supported. Henry J. Draper should be elected senator because if sent to the legislature his vote will be east for democratic measures. The candidates for representatives in democratic wards are safe, but wherever there is a contest the democratic candidate should receive loyal support. We expect to see William C. Purcell, candidate for register of deeds, elected by a good majority on account of the splendid work he has done since he entered the office. It would in our judgment be a grave mistake not to allow him to complete the improvements he has started to make the local registry one of the best protected in the state against fire. It is not generally known that the records at the registry on Gorham street have been exposed to danger from are, and to Mr. Purcell is due the credit of adopting a scheme that will render them absolutely secure even against a fire that would destroy the building.

"Gee" said little Jimmie, the messenger boy, as he came down from the gallery of the Hathaway theatre after the performance last evening, "you'd think you were in the bug-house with all the lafting. I never lafted so much since I had the measles and den I broke out all over." And that's the verdict, if differently expressed, of all who have witnessed "Lost—24 Hours," William Treymayne's great society comedy as now being presented by the Donald Meek Stock company. Every character in the cast is funny and every member of the Donald Meek Stock company is there with the comedy. As for Donald Meek, Sol Smith Russell in his drollest day had nothing on Meek as the chelk-faced theological student with an abhorrence of too chester was seriously and probably fatally burned.

He was wearing a musk with long whiskers and carrying a jack-o'-lantern, when the flimsy whiskers ignited and before he could rip off the mask his face was terribly scorched and he had inhated the flames.

Dr. W. S. Gillam, who was called, said his condition was serious.

The lift was being operated by the egular elevator man, Patrick Collen of 16 Fayotte street, South End, and on it at the time was Edward Maguire, an employe of the Creamer-Wing Laundry company. The clevator, which is of the double-dock style, was well loaded with laundry and other articles, so Conroy and Maguire stood on the very edge of the lower section. When they passed the second floor, when they passed the second hoot, coming down, Conroy, it is supposed, put his head out and it was caught between the floor and the elevator. #### THE LYNN ITEM

Editor Sun:

Lynn, Mass., Oct. 21, 1911.

Dear Sir:-In answer to your query about commission government in Lynn, it is giving satisfaction. The tax rate has been reduced 60 cents a thousand, and valuations have not been unduly increased. Next year more permanent street and sidewalk improvements will be made than ever before in the history of the city, for this year the commission was not in prime working condition until late in the spring, on account of newness. Now, next year's plans are being laid, and the program is immense. The responsibility for omission or commission is easily placed, as there are five commissioners, in place of 36 members of the old style city council. It is only fair to add that I am a late convert to the strictly commission form. and have been ready to criticize if opportunity offered.

Yours Fraternally HARLAN S. CUMMINGS, Man. Ed.

THE HAVERHILL EVENING GAZETTE

Haverhill, Mass., Oct. 23, 1911.

Editor Lowell Sun, Lowell, Mass .:

Dear Sir:-Our new charter works profitably, and satisfactorily in every department of government. It saves time and money, eliminates politics and favoritism, and its beneficent results are equitably distributed among the people without the slightest regard to ward lines or individual influence. It is giving satisfaction not only at city hall, but to all the people. The results of its operations are so much better than those of the former charter that it is doubtful whether five per cent, of the voters could be induced to return to the old order of things.

Very respectfully yours

the least possible delay, and with the fullest possible personal responsibility for the things done.

Five men are fixed with responsibility for every hit of city business, as it is clearly apportioned to them. The citizen who has a matter relative to street or sidewalk improvement knows that the commissioner in charge of public improvements is responsible, and that he must do something; the commissioner knows that he is responsible and must do something, so he does it; there are no committees, no boards to come between the two, and does it; there are no committees, no boards to come between the two, and no pigeon holes anywhere. The result is that if the citizen takes up a matter of street business with the commissioner today he will get his answer today or know the reason why. If there is a bit of street work that needs attention, a telephone message to the responsible commissioner of street work brings workmen that same day, because the commissioner knows that the matter is up to him, and that he cannot dodge it. Responsibility in private business gives results, and it gives results in city business, in its every phase.

The streets and public places were poorty kept, and often in a filthy condition. The city was rent and torn by dissensions and strife of every sort, which impeded its growth and progress. Finally, the people awoke to the necessity of foling something, and they united, democrats and republicans allko, in asking the legislature for a law stying them a new charter. In 1902, Dr. William M. Jones sorved as city physician, and held the position for several years. While in office he recommended to the city council the abolition of the office, stating that: "If the medical work in the hospital was to be done as it should be, it would require the entire time of one man."

The city council falled to take action on the recommendation, and it has since continued to remain a purolypolitical office. I am satisfied that under the present system, the people at the Cholmsford street hospital are neglected, and the sentiment of the physicians of this city whom I have interviewed on this matter, together with a large number of people who have at some time been pattlents important office, which is almost sacred, from the trading, dickering in fluence of politics.

His Arraignment

The arraignment of Mr. Richeson in the superior criminal court will not take place until bis course is ready, according to a statement of District Attorney Pelletier.

A copy of the indictment was taken to the jair this afternoon and read through the cell bars to the defendant. Another copy and a notification of the finding of the grand jury was sent to Attorney General Swift, as required by law, and that official has the right to step in at any time and assume charge of the case if he desires.

With the finding of the indictment, Assistant District Attorney Dwyer's connection with the office ceases but it was said today that he might be asked to assist the prosecution in a special cannetic. as if it would be likewise here. A vast number of Lowell people have come out with statements of what the new tonic has done for them. One man said: "I have been afflicted for years with a continuous dizziness and weakness. I slept poorly and the fittle sleep I did get did not seem to rest me. I was dreadfully tired most of the time and was always nervous and felt as if something was going to happen. My appetite was poor and what I did eat did not agree with me. Bosides I always had a pain in the pit of my stomach. The doctors I saw did not seem to know what was the matter with me and I simply stopped going to them.

HARRIMAN WON OUT the so-called kidney trouble, nearly all indigestion, and fully half of the headaches in Lowell can be attributed to nervous debility superinduced by the strain of modern life. ## MRS. MAUD ELLIOTT

Addressed the Local For Democratic Ticket Women's Alliance

Mrs. Mand Howe Elliott addressed the Lowell branch, Women's alliance in the First Uniterian vestry, yesterday afterneon. She told of incidents in the life of her mother, Mrs. Julia Ward Howe, one of the most remarkable women that the world has ever known, a woman who retained her youthfulness in splendid measure until the time of her death and she was then 91 years of age. Mrs. Elliott read till the time of her death and she was then 91 years of age. Mrs. Elliott read from the proof sheets of her forthcoming book, "The Eleventh Hour," including recollections of the closing years of her mother's life "Her tremendous vitality," said Mrs. Elliott, had much to do with her bog sorvice. The remarkable thing is not that she lived to be $1 years of age, but that she worked until the last; and what she produced in her last year was as good as my of her earlier writings."

On her 91st birthday, a reporter asked Mrs. Howe for a motto for the women of America. Her answer was: "Hy to Date."

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—Laura Biggar, the former actress, who for nine years has played a leading part in lawsuits, has entered suits in the New Jersey court of chaucery to have set aside as void her release of her claim against the estate of Henry Bennett, the Pittsburgh millionaire, who made a will giving her 60 per cent, of his estate and the residue to Peter J. McNulty, who was manager of the Bijou theatre. Pittsburgh, owned by Bennett.

There was a contest over the will Pittsburgh, owned by Bennett.

There was a contest over the will intended to exclude Miss Higgar, who said she was the wife of Bennett and mother of his child. Her name became linked with that of Dr. C. C. Hendricks, who had then made a specialty of treating alcoholic victims. This scandal broke while the will case was pending, and she accepted $190.000 and gave up her alleged rights as a widow. She has, through her counsel, Villiam J. Leonard, filed a bill to sustain her contention that she is entitled to 60 per cent of the estate and signed away her claim under durees. The eswas a contest over the will 60 per cent of the estate and signed away her claim under dures. The estate was held in trust by McNulty, John F. Hawkins and James W. Platt of Pittsburgh. The two first named are now fead. The case was before Vice-Chancellor Garrison at Jersey City yesterday, and he issued an order requiring the surviving trustee to make an accounting within three weeks. The action is brought in New Jersey because Bennett had his summer home at West End, Long Branch.

FRENCH RALLIES

Were Well Attended

Four democratic rallies for French American citizens were held last evening under the auspices of the Poss campaign committee and the democratic city committee.

ratic city committee.
The raties were held simultaneously at the Centralville Social club, Fawtucketville Social club, cith Cityons-Americans and the Middleser Social club, the out of town speakers travelling from place to place while the local speakers allied in when necessary. Speaches were made in both French and English.
The out-of-town speakers were Arthur Beaucage, of Boston and Lowell:
J. E. Veime, of Leominster, formerly of this city; J. L. P. St. Coau of East Cambridge and Adrien Cousineau of Holyoke.

she worked until the last; and what she produced in her last year was as good as any of her earlier writings."

On her 91st birthday, a reporter asked Mrs. Howe for a motto for the women of America. Her answer was: "Ty to Dalte."

"She nover thought of herself as old, and therefore she never was old, in the essentials: 'Life is like a cup of tea; the sugar is all at the bottom,' she cried out to me," said her daughter.

Referring to Mrs. Howe's peem written for the Lincoln ceitenary, Mrs. Elliot said that Prof. Barrett Wendelt considers some of the stanzus as good as the Battle Hymn.

Speaking of Mrs. Howe's qualities as a fighter for good causes, Mrs. Elliot said that he had met with so much reposition through fighting for unpopular causes—abolition, woman sufferage and religious liberty—that she knew the real joy-lies in battle, not in victory.

The last public hearing that she attended at the state bouse was on May 10, 1910, and it was on the question of milk laws. "There, where she had stood for years and asked for the full right of citizenship,—the right to vote,—she made her last appeal. "You may be seated, Mrs. Howe', said the chairman. I prefer to stand, she repide. Her presence lifted the whole occasion out of the commonplace. "We have heard a great deal about the farmers' and the dealers' side of the case," she had the dealers' side of the case," she said; 'we want justice to all—let us stand on that. There is one deeply interested party, however, of whom we have heard nothing. He cannot speak for himself. I am here to speak for h

Real Estate and Personal Property JOHN M. FARRELL, Auctioneer Office 162 Market Street, Lowell, Mass

Commissioners' Sale of Real Estate Saturday, November 4th, 1911, at 3 P. M.

By virtue of a warrant from the probate court, I shall seil at public auction, without limit, the brick block known as the Cabill property formerly occupied by Armour & Co., situated on the northerly side of Market stret, near the corner of Paimer street, Lowell, Alass. The property consists of a two-story brick building that extends back about 80 feet to a 16-toot passageway, with railroad track privileges and a little less than 2000 square feet of land.

The first floor has a large refrigerator built in, that was formerly used by Armour & Co. for storage of meats, with a large salesroom in front, but now used by P. Dempsey & Co. for storage. The second floor is rented.

This property is situated right in the center of the city, where any person or firm wishing to engage in any wholesale business would find this a grand chance to locate, where they can have the railroad track at their door; and being located in the center of the wholesale district, this ought to appeal to any person locking for a safe investment, where a good return is sure to be had.

Terms of sale: $500 to be paid to the auctioneer as soon as the property for a safe.

Terms of sale: $500 to be paid to the auctioneer as soon as the property is sold. Other terms at sale. Per order

JOHN P. FARLEY, SAMUEL SCOTT. WALTER CONROY, Commissioners.

Saturday, November 4th, at 4 O'Clock P. M.

I shall sell at public auction a very desirable suburban home situated on the Old Ferry road that runs from Varnum avenue to the boulovard, five minutes walk from the end of the Varnum avenue electric car line. minutes walk from the end of the Varnum avenue electric car line.

This property consists of a 2½-story house of nine rooms, with a piazza front and side, and good cellar under the entire house. The house is in the best of repair, having just been papered throughout and painted. It has city water; there is a good len house with yards, all wired to keep 250 hens, and a harn.

We will also sell part of the household furniture, consisting of good, havy, brass-trimmed fron beds, springs and mattresses, extra chairs, rockers, carpets, etc.

Don't fall to attend this sale if you want a home that will please any part of that wants to live just out of the city.

Make all inquiries of the auctioneer.

Mahon, 37 Bartlett street, last evening, when Miss Madeline Walsh entertained a number of her little friends. There was ducking for apples and many games after which Charles Keyes, sang Halloween Party "Alexander's Rag Time Band." Gladys Curry danced the sailor's hornpipe and and Buster, the acrobatic Boston terrier, gave a series of stunts that would make professionals jealous. Among others who entortained were Margaret Wyman, Fannie Ducctte, Viola Murphy and Peter McMahon, Jr. Mrs. McMahon served lunch and all left at a inte hour voting Madeline the best ever and hoped to meet next Hallowers.

Miss Sullivan Entertains

A very enjoyable Halloween party was bold at the home of Esther Sulli-van, 250 Rogers street, last evening, A number of friends attended and all as-sisted in making the affair a pleasant sisted in making the anear a presented a unique favor. The latter was beautifully designed, being in the shape of a leaf. It bore the inscription "Hallowen 1911," and in the upper corner was an excellent picture of the charming hostess.

During the evening's festivities a fine musical program was carried out. It included vocal solos by Daniel McCarthy, Gerald Beane and others, with plano selections by Irene Walsh, Cartny, Geraid Beane and Olices, with plano selections by Irene Walsh, Phomas Burns and Daniel McCarthy, All games peculiar to the scason were indulged in. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Sullivan, assisted by Misses Mary Condrey and Esther Sullivan. The party was brought to a close about midnight, and all voted it a grand success.

Last evening Miss Gertrude O'Brien, daughter of Daniel S. O'Brien entertained her classmates from the Notre Dame acadeniy with a Halloween par-Dame academy with a Halloween par-ty at her residence, 22 Wannalancit street. With the exception of the soft rays of light dispensed by the jack-o'-lanterns and other novelties which were strung about, the house was in darkness. A delightful spread was served. Wocal and instrumental solos served. Wocal and instrumental solos served. Vocal and instruments solow were given during the evening. The parly broke up at a seasonable hour and everybody voted Gertrude an ex-cellent hostess.
